

Thesis Flavors

Authored by Mr. Venezia - APUSH

Vanilla

(Plain. Boring. Would YOU order this at Bruster's?)

"The War of 1812 has many causes. "

French Vanilla

(Fancy vanilla, but vanilla nonetheless.)

"There are numerous factors that contribute to the United States going to war with Britain in 1812."

Mashed Potatoes

(looks like vanilla. It isn't.)

"The United States won their independence from Great Britain in the Revolution because of a number of different reasons."

The following are DELUXE thesis flavors; that are to be encouraged in your essay writing. The preferred flavor for any particular essay will probably depend on your knowledge of the subject, and the nature of the question asked.

Neapolitan

(three distinct flavors in one.
No doubt as to what you are getting!)

"The British caused the war of 1812 through diplomatic disrespect of the US, encouraging Indian aggression, and egregious violations of neutrality on the high seas."

Chocolate

(For the rebel who wants the opposite of vanilla)

"Though the British are commonly blamed for the War of 1812 due to violations of maritime neutrality, it is actually American expansionism and hyper-nationalism that are responsible for the conflict."

Vanilla fudge swirl

(Vanilla AND chocolate at the same time, for someone who wants a little of each.)

"British violations of maritime neutrality and diplomatic disrespect of America are major causes of the War of 1812, but they are not solely responsible. Aggressive American expansion and nationalism contributed equally

The ice cream sundae!

(Why settle for just ice cream when you can have it all?)

"British violations of maritime neutrality and diplomatic disrespect of America were clear causes of the War of 1812, but the most significant was American hyper-nationalism."